DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE FOR MEMBER OF CONGRESS.

S. CALVIN TAYLOR.

The spring weather is making the Legislature feel tired and worn out. It is hard to get a quorum to transact business in the afternoon.

This committee appointed to investigate the private papers of Treasurer Taylor began work Monday and closed their doors. They will tell nothing until they have finished the work. The people want to know, but are willing to wait a short while.

The Second District delegation meeting will be held at Eddyville, May 12. The program will be one of great interest. The Vice-President of this, the Third District, has declined to call a meeting for Leitchfield this spring, giving us a reason, the lack of interest taken by the teachers and county Superintendents. Those from this District, who desire to attend a meeting this spring, should go to Eddyville.

The day of miracles are not over. Mrs. Stephen Cassidy, of Bowling Green, who had been sick and unable to attend the meeting, had recently made a "turkey and walk." She says she heard a voice say to her, "Mrs. Cassidy, arise and walk." and she arose shouting for joy. She attributes her cure to intervention from heaven, when in reality, her will was made strong enough to control the muscles, by the voice she heard, or thought she heard.

Mr. Cussey from the county of Mahlenberg has introduced a bill in the Legislature to prohibit the playing of base ball, town ball or foot ball in the Commonwealth. Mr. Cussey has at last rendered himself powerless, but he will be rendered powerless forever if he will now introduce a bill requiring all persons to extend their countenances and look somberly all day Sunday. Give Mr. Cussey room, and the angels will soon come to earth. He is truly a prodigy.

Is this issue will be found a reply to Elder H. M. Ford on the Division by the Rev. Dr. J. W. Edwards, who have been published by request. The Herald is not a denominational paper, consequently it is not the paper through which a religious controversy should be conducted, hence we will be compelled to stop where we are. The Herald is perfectly willing to make announcements for all religious denominations alike, but it must be excused from conducting a religious discussion while it devotes itself to local matters of interest to the people generally.

RAILROADS AND TAXATION.
The history of railroad building in Kentucky is a subject worthy of earnest consideration. At first vast corporations sought to ranch large inland towns by rail in order to be able to do the traffic they needed.

Now the railroad goes into the undeveloped country and towns, even cities spring up along the line, and a new industry and a new life is seen among the people. Years ago the railroad company induced towns and counties along their lines to vote in the shape of "stock in the road" and defrauded the people out of their money. This is now known to be a worthless stock and a transfer of property. Now railroad companies build roads where the people want them, provided the people are willing to give a reasonable aid for the benefits derived from a road in their midst. The day of heavy taxation for the benefit of railroads, has passed, the people are no longer willing to assume burdensome obligations of this kind, and the Legislature recognizing this, has properly introduced a bill prohibiting any county or present from voting a railroad tax exceeding four per cent. of its taxable property.

Logan county, ages ago, loaned $400,000 stock in the L. & N. and issued bonds in payment of same. The county also paid the interest on these bonds for five years, till the dividends of the road paid the interest on the bonds, and a hand-some sum to the county, and the county has only had to pay interest during two years since the road first declared a dividend. The same county also voted a $300,000 stock in the O. & N., and today pays the interest promptly, and is glad she has the road. Another example may be cited. The well-known case of our neighboring county, Mahlenberg. That county voted itself into a bonded debt of $400,000, paid the interest for awhile then required. Her condition is indeed bad and no one envies her the experience she has had, but every right-thinking man must know that it! Mahlenberg county had compromised her debt a year ago, she would have been in far better condition today than she is. Counties cannot afford to vote a large tax on themselves for the benefit of railroads, but counties can afford to vote a small tax on themselves to aid in the construction of a railroad that will benefit the country and the state, and the amount paid out for fares in this day cannot afford to haul their product forty or fifty miles to market and compete with products of the same kind produced near to market, and if a railroad is not built through their community, they move into a community where they can enjoy the benefits of cheap and easy transportation, hence it is easy to see what will be the future of that section far removed from transportation. Can Hardin afford to give aid to a railroad? Can Ohio county afford to vote aid to a railroad running North and South through their county? Is certain that if we are to afford to vote a large tax on itself, it must be extremely bad, not to mention that it would not benefit this county far more to increase its facilities for transportation, to invite enterprising men to their lands, to secure more factories, to increase the value of their lands by the expenditure of a small amount of her revenue, than to throw cold water on all projects for advancement. This is true for practical common sense and the county town or community that does not look out for its own interest is left behind in the onward movement of times.

FOR SHERIFF.

The report of the convention published elsewhere shows how lame was the convention that nominated S. Calvin Taylor for Sheriff. The action of Hobrook and Cassidy in withdrawing rather than cause an wrangle for the nomination, is of the almost absolute equality of their respective friends, is certainly to be highly commended, and the two warring gentlemen only showed their true manhood in their recall.

LITTLE

The publishers of Scribner's Magazine are now able to announce that in the June number of that magazine will be a series of articles on railways, of which a brief announcement was made in the prospectus for the year 1888. The great importance and wide interest of railways are well known, and there is no doubt that in the United States there are about 150,000 miles of railway nearly one-half the total in the whole world, although the population of this country is only about one-tenth that of the world (the globe). The railroads of the United States are worth $8,000,000,000, and their earnings for the year 1887 were about $200,000,000, of which two-thirds was expended in maintenance. For these reasons, and because the railroads of the capital of the country is invested in railways and have a large number of the people draw their support from this source. In the State of Illinois alone there are more than 30,000 people who are dependent upon railways for their occupation.

Not only in their vast material importance that their interest consists; in the enterprise and invention that they have exhibited, perhaps more than any other class of business, and the great feats accomplished in their construction; and the intelligence, foresight, and skill called for in their working, give to every one connected with them a special attraction for all Americans.

The articles which have been planned for Scribner's Magazine will treat the whole subject from a point of view of popular interest, presenting the greatest interest in all its phases, and will be of great service to all Americans.

Engineering feats which have been planned for Scribner's Magazine will treat the whole subject from a point of view of popular interest, presenting the greatest interest in all its phases, and will be of great service to all Americans.

Among the papers already arranged for and to be published during the year are the following:

The construction of a railroad, to Thomas Curtis Clark, the engineer of the Poughkeepsie Bridge and of many great achievements in railway construction.

Engineering feats by John B. Stages, the engineer of the New Haven, Secretary of the American Society of Civil Engineers, who will write of great interest in all its phases.

Pioneer Travel, by General Horace Porter, Vice-President of the Piping Rock Company, and of those conveniences which have been brought to such perfection in hideousness and comfort and safety of railway passengers.

Locomotives and cars, by M. N. Follett, the author of the "Engineering Journal," author of the very widely known "Tales of the Locomotive," and of many other books on the development of locomotives and cars, and explain their construction.

Trade and commerce, of the administration of single road and systems; of the pictorial and human side of the railroads, and of roads, and on other branches of the subject.

Armed quantity of material has been collected, and in this respect the publishers have been aided greatly by the leading engineering journals of the United States and Canada, who have put in their hands valuable photographic material. A number of these have been employed in studies of character, of the results of railroads, and the permanency of the system and the permanency of its organizations.

Price per article, $1.00 a year. Charles Stoddard's "How to Read" 25 cents a copy.
